U.S., Russia Set for U.N. Syria Debate

Each Blaming Other For Stirring Trouble In Seething Mideast

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Russia and the United States have squared off again for resumption this afternoon of the U.N. Assembly's debate on the Turkish-Syrian crisis. Each of the two big powers sought to prove the other responsible for the new Mideast flareup.

Syria kept the pot boiling with a charge that five Turkish planes flew over her territory.

A government spokesman in Damascus said four Turkish aircraft, flying at only 600 feet, trespassed over Syrian territorial waters off Latakia, the port where Egyptian troop reinforcements landed recently. The spokesman said a fifth plane flew over Kameishi, in north-east Syria.

Convinced that Syria will not accept a mediation offer by Saudi Arabian King Saud, Western delegates marshaled new arguments intended to prove that Russia cooked up the crisis as a propaganda vehicle to discredit the United States.

Russia in turn has accused the United States of goading Turkey into war against Syria in an effort to split the Arab world.

Syria made plain she would press demands that the 82-nation Assembly appoint a U.N. inquiry commission as soon as possible to investigate the border situation. The United States wants the commission to have the broader task of ferreting out who is behind the crisis.

AN INFORMED source said the leaders of the 11 Arab nations' delegations met behind closed doors Thursday. One of the more moderate members reportedly suggested a resolution calling on both Turkey and Syria to pull back any abnormal troop concentrations on the border.

Syria has contended, however, that she is not at fault and needs make no move. This was given in Damascus as a reason for refusing to accept mediation.

Syrian Delegate Farid Zeineddine said Thursday night "mediation was not offered at any time nor was it accepted."

A Saudi Arabian source said Saudi felt Syria accepted and then retracted but the offer still stands. Turkey accepted and sent a delegation to Saudi Arabia.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman in Damascus charged the United States and Turkey were using "rumors" of mediation to postpone the debate. The Assembly discussion was suspended last Tuesday for three days to await the outcome of Saudi's offer.

Syrian Foreign Minister Salah Bitar and Zeineddine talked for an hour Thursday with Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld amid reports he would be asked to visit the troubled area. Both the Syrians denied they had extended any invitation and declared they did not think such a visit would be useful at present.

In Beirut, Lebanon, bomb explosions Thursday night damaged two pro-Western offices, one the headquarters of the Syrian Social National party and the other a newspaper. These and other recent explosions in Beirut have been blamed on Syrian Army intelligence.

Ohio's Economic Health Is 'Good'

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation statisticians took a look at the state's economic condition today and came up with what it called some "counter-balancing" trends.

The report on labor market information for October was compiled by the Ohio State Employment Service with the help of the U. S. Employment Service. Here are some of the principal points brought out in the report: 1. Compared with a year ago, employment is up in some Ohio industries, down in others. Overall, non-farm employment dropped about one per cent from September 1956 to September 1957. Manufacturing industries, which account for 42 out of every 100 non-farm jobs in Ohio, were down around three per cent from last year. The factory work week, averaging 40.4 hours, dropped one hour.

2. Manufacturers of service industrial and household machinery are hardest hit. Their employment fell a quarter below September, 1956.

3. STRUCTURAL metal products appeared the strongest in manufacturing. Employment in this category in September was five per cent above September, 1956. This is consistent with the high level of contract construction, the report said, and employment in this non-manufacturing industry was up nearly eight per cent.

4. The average Ohio construction worker grossed $3.33 per hour or $128 per week in September. This compares with $3.09 and $119 in steel mills, and $2.91 and $116 in coal mining, and $2.30 and $103 in the manufacture of automobiles and parts.

5. Lowest factory rates were in tobacco, leather and textiles. Ohio production workers in tobacco products averaged $1.35 per hour in September or $51 per week.

In manufacture of leather products the figures were $1.60 and $62. In textile, apparel, and fabric products, average hourly rate was $1.61, yielding weekly gross of $62. Outside of factories, non-supervisory employees in Ohio department stores averaged $1.40 an hour, or $51 per week.

6. In October, 1956, Ohio claimants for unemployment compensation (unemployed one week or longer) averaged a little over 30,000. This month they'll average over 50,000. Measured against 2.5 million workers under the compensation law, current rate of unemployment is two per cent.

Warren, with 1,300 claimants, has four times its load a year ago. Springfield, with 1,200, has more than twice as many as last year. Portsmouth, with nearly 1,800, gained around 700. Canton, with 2,800 claimants, has nearly 1,800 more claimants than last year.

Living Cost Up Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—The cost of living rose by one-tenth of 1 per cent during September, the 13th monthly advance in a row, the Labor Department reports. The consumer price index is now 3.4 per cent higher than a year ago.

Three Get Jail Sentences, Five Probation in Court

Cases of nine defendants indicted by the October Grand Jury were disposed of in Pickaway Common Pleas Court this week. Three of the defendants were given jail terms, five were placed on probation and one was put under mental observation.

The stiffest penalty in the group of cases was handed out to Clarence Henry Price, Columbus, who was given a 1 to 15 year sentence by Judge William Ammer after he pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary. Price will serve his sentence in the Ohio Penitentiary at hard labor. Ray W. Smith, Ashville, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to three days in the county jail after he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicants. Smith's operator's license was also suspended for six months.

James Dorrill received the same penalty as Smith on a similar offense of driving while under the influence of intoxicants. However, his driving rights were restored for purposes of driving to church and for meals. Dorrill pleaded guilty to the charge.

ROBERT DAVIS, pleading guilty to a charge of failing to provide support for minor children, was placed on probation for five years. Davis was required to pay $17.50 a week to the Juvenile Court as a condition of probation.

Lewis Willoughby was also placed on probation for five years after pleading guilty to a charge of failing to provide for minor children. He was ordered to obtain steady employment and pay $10 a week for support in addition to paying $15 a week to be credited against an arrearage of $280.

Fred Brungs was placed on probation for a year after pleading guilty to a charge of torturing a child. He was ordered for the dura-

Shirley Jury Says 'Guilty'

A verdict of guilty was returned against Albert Shirley, 36, of Columbus in a jury trial yesterday in Pickaway Common Pleas Court.

Shirley was tried on charges of breaking and entering a building in the night season and larceny. The charges resulted from his participation in the July 28 burglary of Tink's Tavern.

Value of the stolen property involved in the burglary was found to be in excess of $75 by the jury. The cases against Shirley's man-and-wife partners in the burglary were disposed of last month. William "Pete" Diamond, 34, was sentenced to a 1-15 year term in Ohio State Penitentiary and Diamond's wife, Henrietta, charged with being an accomplice, was placed on probation for three years. Both Diamond and his wife had pleaded guilty.

Ike-Mac Talks Nearing Finale

Chief British Goal Is Scientific Pool

WASHINGTON (AP)—British Minister Harold Macmillan ends his crucial talks with President Eisenhower today, reportedly on a note of urging a joint economic aid program for the Middle East.

Macmillan planned another afternoon meeting with Eisenhower at the White House before taking off for home. His schedule called for a stop in Ottawa, to talk to Canadian Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker, en route back to London.

As a luncheon guest, Eisenhower had Paul-Henri Spaak, secretary general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Macmillan, Secretary of State Dulles and British Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd arranged to join them.

Spaak's presence symbolized American-British efforts to keep the talks, which started Wednesday, from appearing to shut out the other Western allies.

There was no definite advance word whether Eisenhower and Macmillan would issue a communique summing up their talks.

BUT IT WAS made clear by officials that the main burden was to seek a way of countering Soviet propaganda and political gains arising from the Reds' scientific advances.

The British are understood to have pressed for delivery of intermediate range missiles (about 1,500 miles). They were promised a supply at the Eisenhower-Macmillan conference in Bermuda last March. But so far none has been delivered because of delays in development.

But the major British concern has to do with science. What the British would like, it is understood, is a kind of international Manhattan Project, the setup with which America produced the world's first atomic bomb.

3 Slugs Fell Murder, Inc. Executioner

Violent Death Comes As Gangster Sits in Hotel Barber Chair

NEW YORK (AP)—Albert Anastasia, gangland chieftain, was shot and killed today by two masked men in a hotel barber shop.

The gunmen pumped three bullets into Anastasia as he sat in a barber chair, with the barber's white apron around him, at the Hotel Park Sheraton in the heart of Manhattan.

The men then fled along West 55th Street by automobile.

Identification was made by a brother, Anthony (Tony) Anastasia, Brooklyn dock boss, who left weeping after viewing the body on the floor of the barber shop.

Anastasia, one of gangland's top figures for many years, was reputed to be the chief executioner for the old Brooklyn kill-for-pay ring, Murder, Inc. He had been implicated in at least 31 murders.

ANASTASIA, 53, had lived a charmed life. He beat five different murder raps, as well as an attempt on his life six years ago. After the 1951 attempt to kill him, the New York Anti-Crime Committee reported that he had been ordered to get out of town or face gangland execution.

Hordes of patrolmen and detectives poured in the hotel following the killing at 10:30 a.m.

However, those at the scene declined to give immediately any details except that the dead man had been seated in a barber chair.

Anastasia was a native of Italy who gained entrance to the United States by smuggling himself ashore in New York in 1917. He was one of four brothers who repeatedly have been linked to crime in this country.

Anastasia was reported to have begun his crime career here as a member of the Mafia, a criminal society of Italians, shortly after his arrival. In 1921 he was convicted with others of killing a fellow countryman here.

He spent months in the death house at Sing Sing but finally eluded the electric chair after the Mafia frightened a key state witness into returning to Italy. In a retrial, Anastasia was acquitted. From that point Anastasia rose through a crime career until he became one of the nation's top underworld figures.

He was described as the sinister figure behind assorted New York and New Jersey waterfront rackets which netted millions of dollars a year from legitimate businesses.

ANASTASIA was said to have been one of the kingpins of a national crime syndicate formed in 1934. Others in the upper bracket allegedly included Frank Costello, Joe Adonis, Al Capone and the Moretti brothers.

Thereafter was founded the Murder, Inc., enterprise—a Brooklyn kill-for-pay mob. Anastasia was said to have fingered half of the mob's 63 victims.

The 1951 attempt on Anastasia's life was said to have been planned for a Cliffs Park, N. J., restaurant, but Anastasia apparently was tipped off and escaped gangdom vengeance.

Sentenced Doubled For Victim of Flu

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP)—John McCann asked the judge to double his 7-day jail sentence for drunkenness. "I've got the Asian flu," the 69-year-old defendant explained, "and I want to be sure I'm over it before the warden throws me out."

The court revised the sentence to 14 days.

'Dud' Shell Kills 4

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—A scrap metal scavenger Thursday picked up a shell near a firing range, insisted it was a dud, dashed it to the ground, killing himself and 3 other persons.

Colder Weather Could Boost Flu

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ohioans, already in the grip of a serious outbreak of influenza, may be in for an even rougher time when an anticipated cold wave arrives.

Cincinnati's health director, Dr. Carl Wilzbach, says a sharp drop in temperature makes everyone more susceptible to colds and upper respiratory infections.

The Ohio Department of Health reports that, by now, every section of the state has been visited by the flu and there is no sign of a letup.

Dr. Frederick Wentworth, chief of the department's Communicable Diseases Division, said in all probability the illness is Asian flu. He said the division arrived at that conclusion when laboratory tests failed to show very much of other types of flu.

Dr. Wentworth said the department has received reports of influenza or influenza-type illness hitting schools in 39 counties but he said the actual figure is probably closer to 50 because some reports are slow in reaching department headquarters.

DEATHS DUE to flu-type illness in Ohio total at least 12.

The National Health Service said Thursday that up until Oct. 18 there had been 692 more deaths due to flu-type disorders in the U. S. than a year ago.

Southwestern Ohio appeared to be recovering slightly Thursday. In Cincinnati, 71 public schools reported 14,517 absences, a drop of 3,363 from Wednesday.

In Middletown, public schools reported 26 per cent absenteeism, slightly below an earlier figure.

Central Ohio appeared to have a similar recovery. Columbus school officials had feared the necessity of closing classrooms, but the threat was removed Thursday when teacher absenteeism dropped sharply.

In Marion Twp. (Franklin County), however, four schools reported absenteeism among students was as high as 45 per cent.

Guernsey County health officials said some schools in Cambridge and rural sections of the county had to be closed.

Student absenteeism in Toledo climbed slightly Thursday. But Dr. C. J. A. Paule, chief of Toledo's Bureau of Preventive Medicine, said rain in the area probably was a major factor in keeping school children home. He said Toledo physicians reported no large scale increase in flu.

Parochial schools in Youngstown that closed last Friday reopened Thursday, but 7,008 public school students were still absent.

Sputnik Said To Be Possible 'Fake Stunt'

REDLANDS, Calif. (AP)—Russia's launching of Sputnik may have been a "fake stunt," says a physicist participating in the U. S. Far Side Project.

Sputnik may have been launched from a balloon (as the Far Side rocket was) instead of using an intercontinental ballistic missile, said Charles E. Bartley. "As propaganda, the Russian launching is undeniably superb," Bartley told a group of University of Redlands scientists. "By innuendo, it supports Soviet claims to an intercontinental ballistic missile."

"But objective analysis raises several questions. Sputnik could easily have been launched from a balloon. This would have been possible without employing a large rocket of ICBM magnitude."

He quoted a Russian scientist, Mrs. Anna T. Masevich, vice president of the Soviet Astronautical Council, as saying in Barcelona, Spain, on Oct. 4:

"Newspapers were wrong when they said the satellite weighed 184.3 pounds. I think it is not so heavy."

Commented Bartley: "Common sense and logic sum up two reasonable suppositions. The Soviet Sputnik more likely weighs 18 pounds and it does not make sense that the Russians would expend a large ICBM rocket, even if they had it, to put that weight into an orbit when a light cluster of efficient small rockets could do the same job from a balloon."

Bing Crosby and Bride Honeymooning at Ranch

Pumpkin Show Visitors Are 'Unhappy'

Two Pumpkin Show visitors apparently left Circleville in an unhappy frame of mind.

According to a letter received by The Herald from D. M. Roads, Rainboro, a car belonging to his friend was towed away from a no-parking zone. The letter contends that Roads and his companion were victims of a hoax.

Roads wrote that a corner policeman at Scioto and Pinckney Sts. said it would be OK to park between Main and Pinckney Sts. although "no parking" signs were posted in that area.

Roads said the policeman even directed him in parking the auto. However, a few minutes later Roads and his friend noticed the car being towed away.

AFTER A long search the two men finally found the police station, but said they were unable to convince officers on duty that they had been given false information. Their anger reached a peak when they were told the towing bill amounted to $4.

Police Chief Elmer Merriman explained the police side of the story by saying that all corner guards had been instructed that "no parking" signs meant just what they said. This especially as true between Scioto and Pinckney Sts. where parades had to pass, the chief said.

Roads ended his letter by saying that Circleville is a lovely city but that he intended to make it a point never to enter the city again.

Ashtabula County Bank Robbed of $24,000

ASHTABULA — Three men robbed the bank at nearby Andover today and escaped with an estimated $24,000.

Ashtabula County deputies said two men armed with revolvers entered the bank about 8:30 a.m. A third man sat in a car outside. The car, believed stolen from Mentor about midnight Thursday, fled south on Ohio 7.

Herald Publisher Describes Expansion Plans to Rotary

Paul Rodenfels, publisher of The Circleville Herald, addressed the regular Thursday noon meeting of the Circleville Rotary Club at the Elks Lodge yesterday.

He described the building program of The Herald as "a look to the future and a symbol of faith in the future of Circleville as a growing community." He stated that the new quarters will represent an investment of approximately $75,000 upon its completion.

Already the Herald, according to Rodenfels, has invested $22,000 in an addition to its press, making possible a 20-page paper at one printing, an increase of four pages over its former capacity.

The Herald, he said, is constantly striving to increase its news coverage, especially that of local and county events.

THE PUBLISHER paid a special tribute to the newsboys who deliver the papers, describing them as boys in private enterprise, buying the papers at wholesale prices and then retailing them to the consumers, he stated.

They, like the mail carriers, must make delivery in spite of rain, hail, sleet or snow, he pointed out, and deserve a big pat on the back for their efforts.

Rodenfels stated that the greatest single expense in publication of the paper is the payroll which amounts to some $139,433 annually.

The meeting was later opened to questions from the floor with Robert Harrod, editor of the Herald, assisting Rodenfels in answering. Some of the questions discussed dealt with syndicated columns, editorials, circulation, and rural news.

Theater Halts Kid Matinee

The Grand Theater management today cancelled its scheduled "Kiddie Matinee" in an effort to halt the flu epidemic. Marie Wilkin, manager of the Grand Theater, announced the cancellation.

She said that the special kids' program was scheduled two months ago to give the children something to do today, since school would be out for the annual teachers' meeting. She reported that the management decided against running the matinee when it became apparent the movie might tend to spread the epidemic.

TV Singers Find Criticism Up

'Alleged' Comedy Seen Point for Judgment

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—Many of the popular singers who are presenting their own television shows must have awakened to a disturbing fact by this time. They are not being judged only as singers and performers, as hosts and hostesses; they're also being judged on the basis of their alleged comedy skills.

There was a time when a singer simply sang, when a host hosted and a hostess hosted. But not any more. Now they're asked to get hearty laughs as comedians and comediennees too.

In the past week, for example, three superb singers and performers launched a new season of TV programs. As singers and performers all were excellent. But two, and to a lesser degree the third, were badly let down by their writers.

Dinah Shore returned to a new season on NBC-TV, happy to report. She has the same sparkle and winsomeness that always mark her performances.

Her guests were well-chosen too: Nanette Fabray, Danny Thomas, Tab Hunter, Dean Jones. Thomas wisely always brings his own material with him. But the others, including Miss Shore, were caught in an embarrassing predicament when the script called for hearty laugh comedy. The material simply wasn't there.

Caught in a similar predicament was that fine singer and actor, Frank Sinatra, who has started his own program on ABC-TV (Fridays 9 p.m., EDT). Nothing could have been finer than Sinatra singing such songs as "The Lady is a Tramp."

His principal guests seemed wisely chosen too: Bob Hope and Kim Novak. But all three were entangled in a long and humorless sketch that involved Miss Novak being chased around the world by Sinatra and Hope.

Actor Seeks Legal Status to Name

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Louis Gendre wants permission to adopt the name he has become known by — Louis Jourdan.

And his wife, Berthe, would like to take the name of Quique Jordan, the 36-year-old actor said in a petition to the Superior Court Thursday. He was born in Mar-seilles, France.

The couple wishes to name their 6-year-old son Louis Henry George Jourdan, the document added.

Prolonging Life Becoming a 'Curse'

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Medicine's success in prolonging life may "become a curse rather than a blessing" unless people's minds and personalities are also preserved, says a leading psychiatrist.

Dr. Edward A. Strecker, professor emeritus of psychiatry at the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine, said Thursday that preserving the mind and personality is "infinitely more precious than the body." He noted that many old people have sound bodies but are forgetful, lack interest in their surroundings, and suffer from infirmities due to deterioration of parts of the brain.

Curious Teen-Agers Nearly Wreck Train

GREENVILLE, S. C. (AP)—Two teen-aged brothers playing hooky got curious and nearly wrecked a freight train Thursday. Authorities said the boys, aged 16 and 14, admitted both being AWOL from school and flipping a railroad switch "because we wanted to see what would happen."

Fortunately W. R. Donahue, engineer on a Spartanburg-bound Piedmont and Northern Railroad freight train, saw the switch had been changed and halted the train a short distance before it would have been thrown into a siding.

Cobwebby Strands Fall from Sky in New Mexico Area

PORTALES, N.M. (AP)—Cobweb-like strands up to 50 feet long are falling from the sky around this eastern New Mexico city, festooning telephone lines and becoming a nuisance in broom corn and cotton harvesting.

Explanations of the nature of the strands have ranged from the Russian satellite to giant cobwebs. They are apparently falling from a great height.

An engineer at Sandia Base in Albuquerque said he had heard of similar phenomena in California valleys around Fresno and Bakersfield which were attributed to dust.

Dust particles in the atmosphere rub together creating a static charge which causes the particles to cling together in the form of gossamer strands.

Heart Operation Successes Growing

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Some heart operations are "safer than a tonsillectomy," a Philadelphia surgeon claims.

Recent surgical advances have made it possible to correct holes in the inner heart wall which cause "blue babies," Dr. Houck E. Bolton, instructor in chest surgery at Hahnemann Medical College and Hospital, said at a cardiac institute.

He said other new heart techniques make possible the removal of the patent ductus (a blood vessel that should disappear before birth) and cure aortic stenosis—the narrowing of the great blood vessel of the heart.

Only Rain Able To Enter Vault

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—It's regarded as burglar-proof, fireproof and earthquake-proof—the underground vault of the Loomis Armored Car Service.

But to the chagrin of company officials, it isn't leakproof. When it rains, money and other valuables must be restacked to keep them off the floor.

"Worrisome and frustrating," says Fred Rice, the firm's division manager, after a rain this week left several inches of water on the floor. "We don't know what to do."

Jet Fighter Falls On Dayton Farm

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—An Air Force jet pilot was killed Thursday night when his single-seat F86D fighter went into a spin and exploded into a farm about 10 miles south of here.

Persian Baluchistan is the geographically correct name used on maps, but local inhabitants of this desolate colony in Asia call it Yaghistan, or "country of outlaws."

Labor Probers Now Studying Practices by Sears Roebuck

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Rackets Investigating Committee turned its attention today to Sears, Roebuck & Co. in its inquiry into improper union or management labor relations activities.

The first look, committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy said, will be taken at Sears' Boston stores and at efforts by the Retail Clerks Union to organize them in 1953.

The Sears inquiry ties closely into the operations of Nathan W. Shefferman, who heads Labor Relations Associates (LRA) and who has been described by Kennedy as a "union buster."

The committee heard extensive testimony relating to activities of LRA agents at the Clyde and Marion, Ohio, plants of the Whirlpool Corp., which manufactures driers, washers and other appliances. The appliances are sold under the names RCA Whirlpool and by Sears as Kenmore appliances.

The testimony told of agents of the LRA going into the plants and helping to organize anti-union committees to halt organization by unions.

One agent, Walter J. Patterson, swore that he passed out money received from Whirlpool to help influence employees at the Clyde plant to vote against joining a union.

Another witness, Charles Litell, said he was lined up by a Shefferman agent to operate as a "labor spy" in an anti-union campaign at the Marion plant. He named the Shefferman representative as Dr. Louis Checov, a psychologist whom the committee had tried unsuccessfully to summon.

Checov, now living in Vancouver, B. C., told newsmen Thursday he plans to remain in Canada and "definitely will not go" before the committee.
